Fine Plants for the Summer Garden

THE enjoyment of garden flowers is made much easier by planting at the right time of nicely started plants in sturdy growth, for they may be set out at ample distance where wanted and soon begin to produce flowers. Real quality of superior kinds from the finest seeds such as we use assure so much more satisfaction than ordinary plants by less skillful growers.

There is a large measure of satisfaction in the use of superquality plants such as we furnish and at the low cost makes good flowers no longer a luxury. The hobby for flowers makes everyday life a more varied and richer experience, improves health mentally and physically for a garden is nature's fairest workshop where mankind may toil and fathom life's deepest secrets as plant life is only a mirror of our own, wherein we see the master's work of art in fullest glory.

Note all the plants listed here are not available at once for some must be set out early, while others are only satisfactory when set out after weather gets warm by end of May or June. Orders will be filled when stock is ready according to season and balance if any at the proper time.

A large collection of plants not listed here is available in our establishment. Please do not hesitate to inquire for your garden needs, whatever they may be as we try to be of service to all flower fanciers and furnish material of the finest quality in this region. Our richly illustrated book on Better Shrubs and Plants will be furnished on special request.

Some New or Rare Garden Flowers

To increase the joy of gardening there is no feature so enjoyable as a few plants that are a surprise by their novelty, rare and unexpected beauty and charms that appeal to all friends of the garden world. We take great pleasure in offering fine well-grown plants that will prove successful for the home gardener and the following selection includes some of the finest introductions of recent times that we have found worth while in our climate here.

Each and every garden will be a richer experience by the addition of a few of these novelties now priced so reasonably as to come within reach of modest purses.

THE NAMAQUA LAND DAISY. This marvelous beauty of South Africa with flowers of richest deep orange golden color radiating from a purplish brown to black circle is a revelation of floral splendor that thrives well in the Oregon climate and happily seems best at home in soils not too rich and rather dry as it is native to a dry country. Its silvery gray velvety foliage spread disc like over the soil is a delightful sight by itself and from the center of the crown arise the stout flower stems to a height of 20 to 30 inches bearing a solitary crown like flower, with a circle of petals spread out flat and another circle of petals forming a cup around a dark colored central disk. A sunny location and substantial soil will suit this plant to perfection but planting must be done carefully so as not to disturb the rootball any; water very sparingly when needed. Splendid pot grown plants—3 for 50c. (Space them at least 12 inches). Ready towards end of May and June. By mail 65c.

or The Namaqua Land Daisy

THE LIVINGSTON DAISY. A gorgeous South African annual of low spreading habit ideally adapted for rockery planting to secure brilliant colors during the summer season. Flowers daisy like in numerous colors from pure white to brilliant red, pink, apricot and salmon tints. Will thrive in poor light soil and sunny locations; similar in habit to Portulacca. This novelty is offered for the first time. 25c each. Ready by middle of May to end of June.

TREE ZINNIA, or Golden Flower of the Inca. A large rapid growing plant for sunny locations and loose sandy soils producing flowers in late summer of the most brilliant golden orange imaginable and resembling a zinnia, growing fully as tall as hollyhocks. To be planted late. Six for 50c. Postage 15c extra.

ARCTOTIS SPECIOSA. A grey leaved daisy of South African origin with large daisy like flowers in gorgeous colors of wide range, coppery to orange and golden tints, also pink to lavender and bright yellow. Thrives best in sunny well drained location and may be used for rockery planting as it is of low growing habit with rather large flowers on single stems held neatly above the foliage. Splendid novelty of great appeal. Stock limited. 15c each, 6 for 75c. By mail $1.00.

URSINIA PULCHRA. One of the glorious South African daisies with slender almost fernlike foliage and deep brilliant orange daisy like flowers of graceful form. A golden jewel for treasure gardens of folks that love the rich and dainty charm of African flowers. Dwarf compact growth for sunny spots as border or rockery plant. 4 for 50c.

BLUE LACE FLOWER, DIDISCUS COERULEA. Dainty blue cutflower annual of good lasting quality; easy to grow in sunny locations. Pot grown pl. 6 for 50c; by mail 60c.

STREPTOSOLEN. This rich violet purple annual will flower most profusely; growing somewhat like Heliotrope, covered with its small intense colored flowers in great masses from midsummer to late fall. A fine plant to use with scarlet Pentstemon in borders or as filler between gladioli, in rockeries (or Salvia). Pot grown 6 for 50c. Postage 15c.

SOUTH AFRICAN LION'S TAIL BUSH. A new flower that grows much like the scarlet sage or salvia but makes long clusters of deep orange colored flowers that come in ring-like circles of tubular shape with a hairy covering. Truly a startling effect when they come into bloom towards fall. They must be grown in a very sunny location and set at least 18 inches apart for they grow fast and may reach 30 to 40 inches in height. This makes a sensational effect of startling novelty and color. They may be wintered over the same as Fuchsias as they are really shrubs. Price 25c each from 3-inch pots.

VIOLA APRICOT. Rich apricot yellow of great charm in rockeries or as border plants in front of shrubbery or perennials. Dozen 75c.

Violas of other sorts are also available.

NOTE: Dwarf annuals make fine plants to replenish the rockeries by using them in small groups here and there to bring color in summer and fall, when the regular rockplants are out of bloom. These spaces are then replanted in late fall with bulbs for early spring. The following are suitable: Lobelias, Portulacea, Ursinia, Livingstone Daisy, California Moss, Thunbergia, Verbenas, Dwarf Marigolds, Dwarf Salvia, Dwarf Phlox, Cuphea, Sweet Alyssum, Nemesis, etc., etc.

Plants preferring partial shade are the following: Begonias, Heliotrope, Impatiens, Nicotiana, Salpiglossis, Larkspur, Ivy, Ivy Geranium, Pansies, Abutilons, Cuphea. Note that a certain amount of sunlight is essential, for continuous shade is harmful to all except ferns.
